Production

At Landbruget Holmager, we take pride in our pig production, which is based on a combination of experience, efficiency, and innovation. With 4,500 sows spread across multiple properties in western Jutland, we produce approximately 160,000 piglets annually, which are exported to customers worldwide. Our production consists of three separate sow farms – two focused on production sows and one smaller unit dedicated to breeding.

High quality and animal welfare

Our pig production team consists of around 30 dedicated employees who ensure high quality and excellent animal welfare. We place great emphasis on optimizing operations through in-house breeding, guaranteeing healthy and robust piglets.

Crop farming

The crop farming operations at Holmager cover 1200 hectares and include a diverse production that combines traditional grain crops with specialty crops such as potatoes for flour production, as well as grass seed, which is harvested and used for both golf courses and football fields, and later sold to DLF. Five experienced employees work in the fields and workshop, contributing to the farm's daily operations.

Farming since 1993

Landbruget Holmager was founded in 1993 by Mourits Rahbek. Over the years, the farm has grown into a thriving business with a strong focus on sustainability, well-being, and innovation.

A workplace with a focus on well-being

At Landbruget Holmager, we value people and their potential highly. We offer a work environment where employees can grow both professionally and personally. There is plenty of room to thrive—whether in the break room, the barn, or the fields.

Our focus on well-being creates a positive work environment where care and support are part of everyday life. Employees are encouraged to take responsibility and develop their skills, while social bonds are strengthened through shared activities such as sports, fishing, and social events.
